

REGIONAL YAJILIN

Paint some cells black. Black cells are not allowed to be orthogonally adjacent.

Draw a closed loop that passes through all the remaining white cells. The loop does not cross or overlap itself. A number in a bold outlined region indicates the number of black cells in that region. Cells with a number may be blackened.

